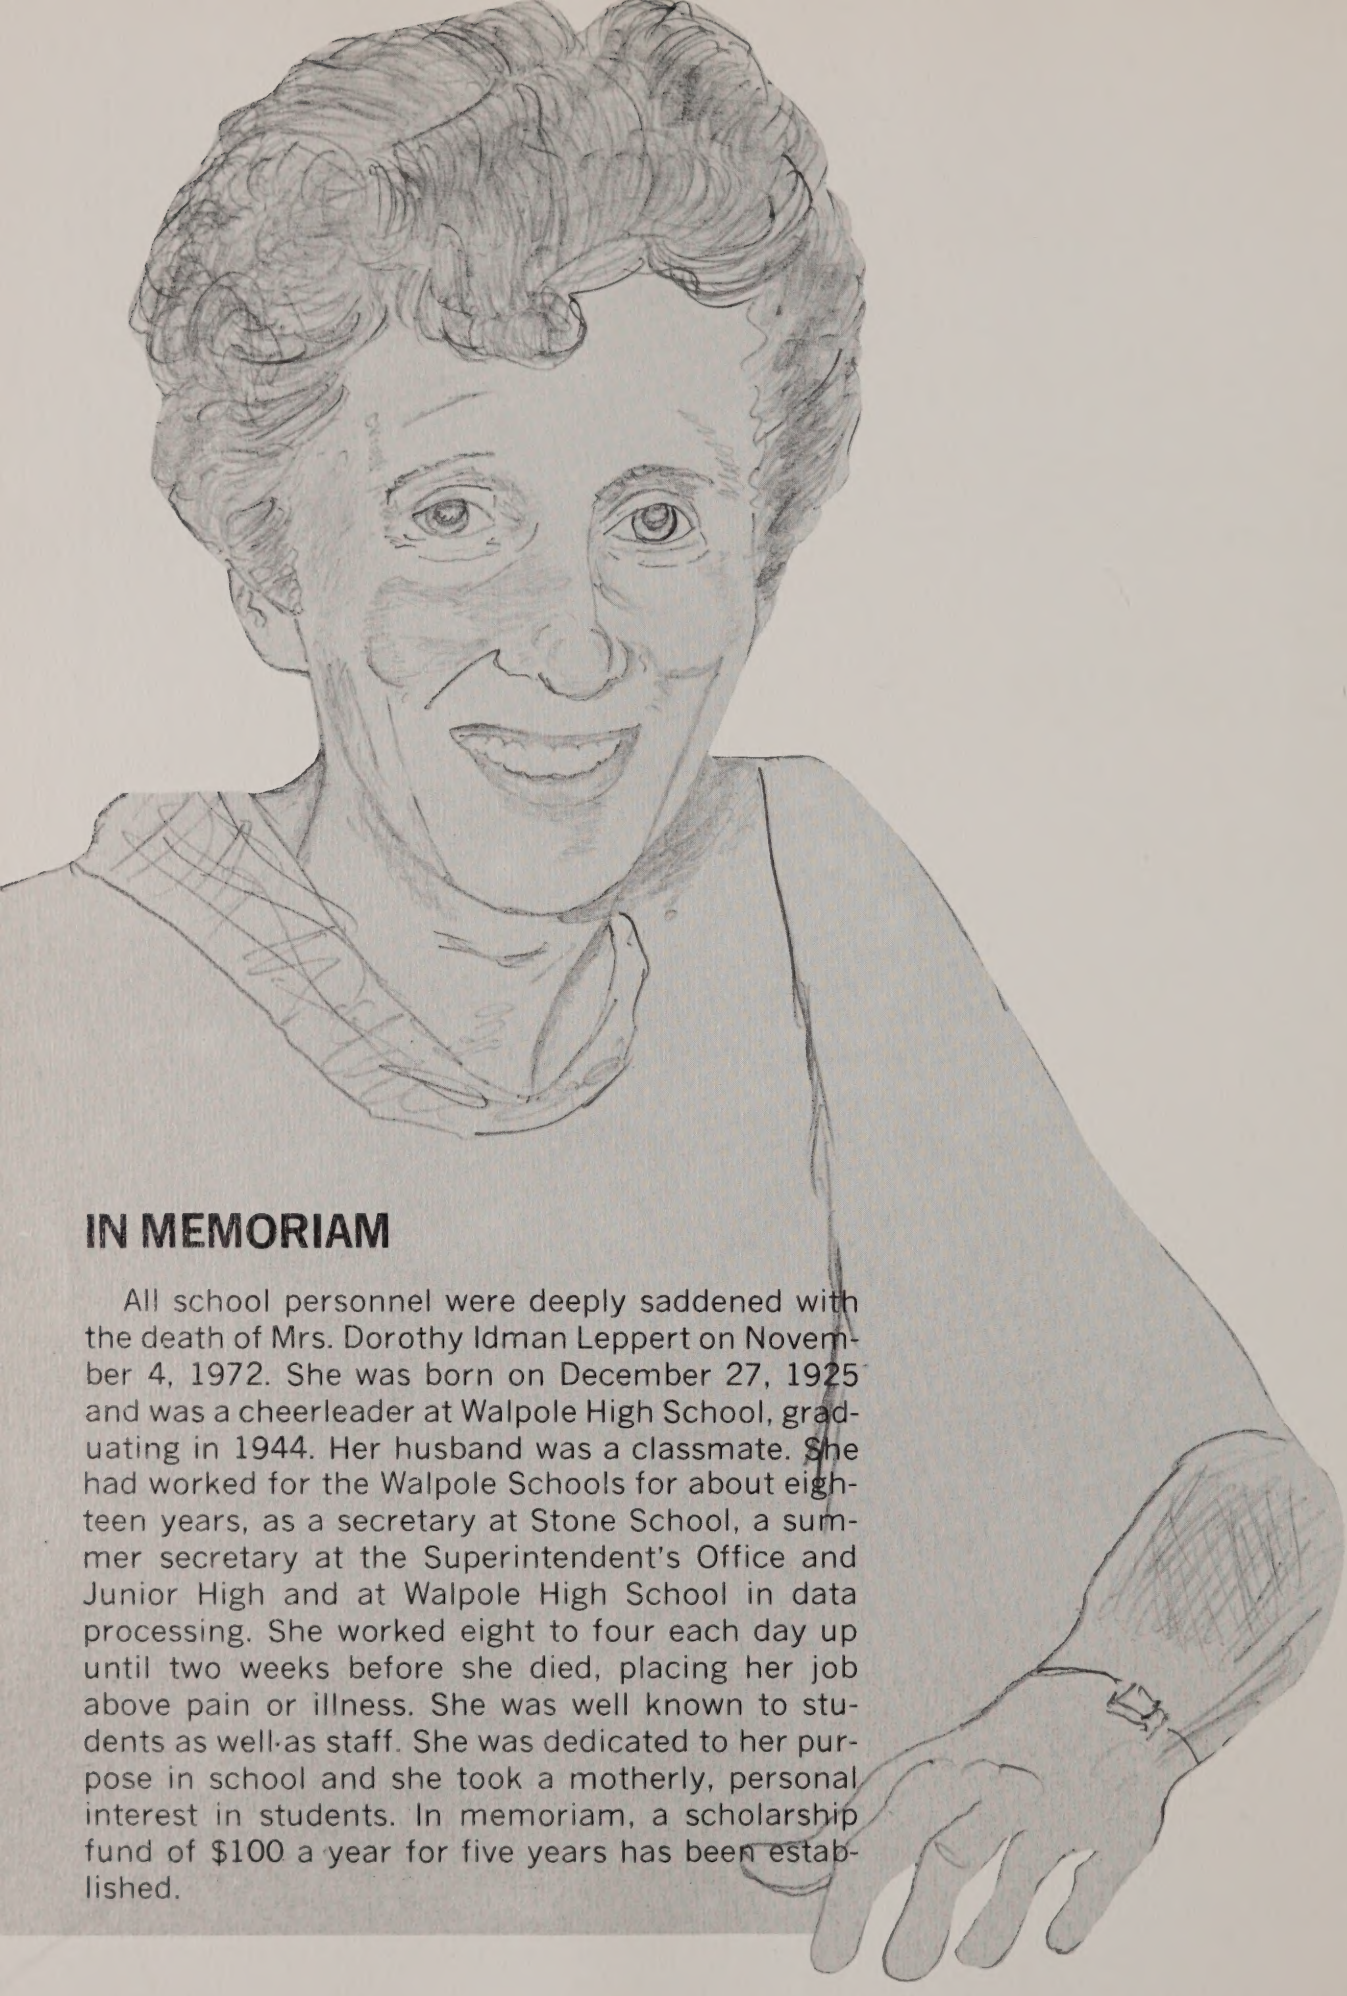
OPEN CAMPUS HITS W.H.S.



IN MEMORIAM

All school personnel were deeply saddened with the death of Mrs. Dorothy Idman Leppert on November 4, 1972. She was born on December 27, 1925 and was a cheerleader at Walpole High School, graduating in 1944. Her husband was a classmate. She had worked for the Walpole Schools for about eighteen years, as a secretary at Stone School, a summer secretary at the Superintendent's Office and Junior High and at Walpole High School in data processing. She worked eight to four each day up until two weeks before she died, placing her job above pain or illness. She was well known to students as well as staff. She was dedicated to her purpose in school and she took a motherly, personal interest in students. In memoriam, a scholarship fund of $100 a year for five years has been established.

GOING OUR WAY MEANS GOING YOUR WAY

faculty and administration

Between P.A.D., Max-Ed, jumbled parking areas, irate parents and disgrunted students, Mr. Wayne Stacy felt the challenge and frustrations suffered by the modern principal.

Max-Ed, X Block, Etc.

Max-Ed, X Block, smoking areas, obscene graffeti plastering the school in protest of P.A.D. (Parents Against Drugs) — these were just a few of the activities that challenged the metal of a beleagured administration.

Beyond the immediate challenge was the one looming on the horizon — accreditation. Could the tradition of the conservative Hilltopper endure the strong winds of change as it stood on the threshold of its 100th anniversary?

Don't miss the next installment of this thrilling cliffhanger.

The chief juggler in Arena Scheduling is the man behind the man — Bob Geib.

Max-Ed proved a real headache to Mr. Tom Reis who was kept busy trying to plug the growing leaks in the dam.

Unfortunately Dora Bushway suffered a broken leg — the result of an automobile accident, and was unable to be with us during second semester.

Mrs. Brigham — doing her thing in the Bureau of Missing Persons.

Shirley Crown felt the loss of her co-worker, Dora Bushway, but kept the machinery humming with all systems go.

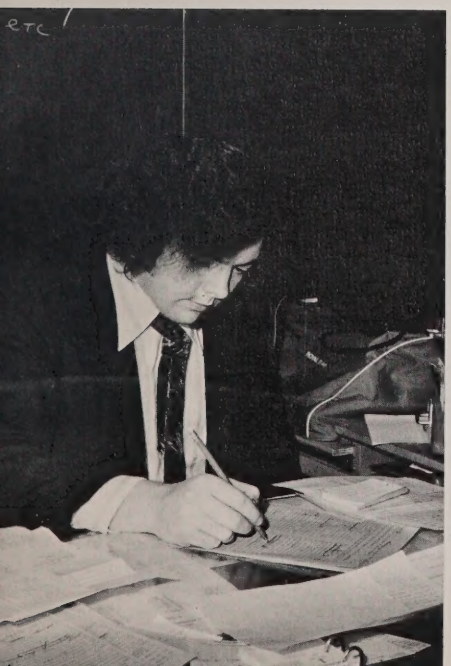
Mrs. Boragine ferrets out the A.W.O.L.'s: Always Walking Out On Life.

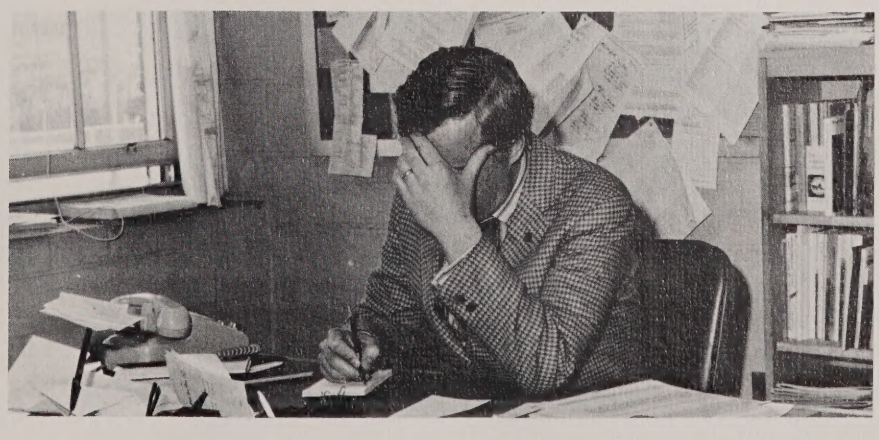
Who could ever make the wrong choices under the congenial supervision of Mr. Kelly?

You can't read the words on that banner on the wall but it makes Miss Sline's perspective clear.

Mrs. Stuber, along with the ring master, Mr. Foley, helps keep the IBM monster under control.

Mr. Joy's sage wisdom: "So you can't get into Harvard. One man's ivy could be another man's poison."





Mr. Turley ponders the memo that broke the camel's back.

Mr. Mel Siebolt helped maintain discipline and order. He was particularly helpful in controlling the more hair raising problems in Mr. Reis's office.

Semester Electives Popular

Mrs. Barbara Hinds prepares for her black lit. class.

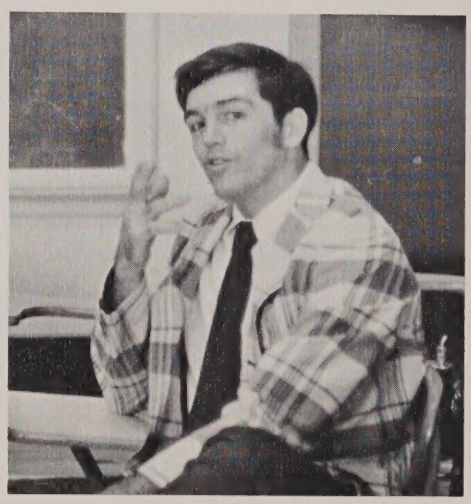
"Ah . . . People" Miss Eleanor Flynn mumbles.

As a mechanic Mr. Arthur Hull makes a great Shakespearean.

Continuing semester style and still somewhat elective, the English Curriculum progressed smoothly and effectively. Oblivious to chaotic surroundings and enthusiastic teachers, students read, studied, and discussed "the best that has been thought and said."

In its second year, and still a favorite among students, the composition program, enduring the efforts of change, brought about cramped hands, weary but enlightened minds, and a dearth of red ink.

In addition to the wide range of electives already offered such as Black Literature, Creative Expression, and Modern Poetry, students next year can look forward to new offerings in Speech and Debate, Drama, and Individualized Reading Instruction.



"That's not exactly what I want" explains Mr. Frost Hubbard.

Introducing the big-hearted, sympathetic, understanding — Mr. Kevin Farrell!!

Ninth period on Friday finds Mrs. Janette Willey full of life.

Happy Mac doesn't relish his new position — Mr. Joseph McDonald.

That's the funniest one Mrs. Judith Springer has heard in a long time.

Well, if it isn't the new Mr. Richard Schnorbus.

Mrs. Grace Ryan maps out the day's strategies.

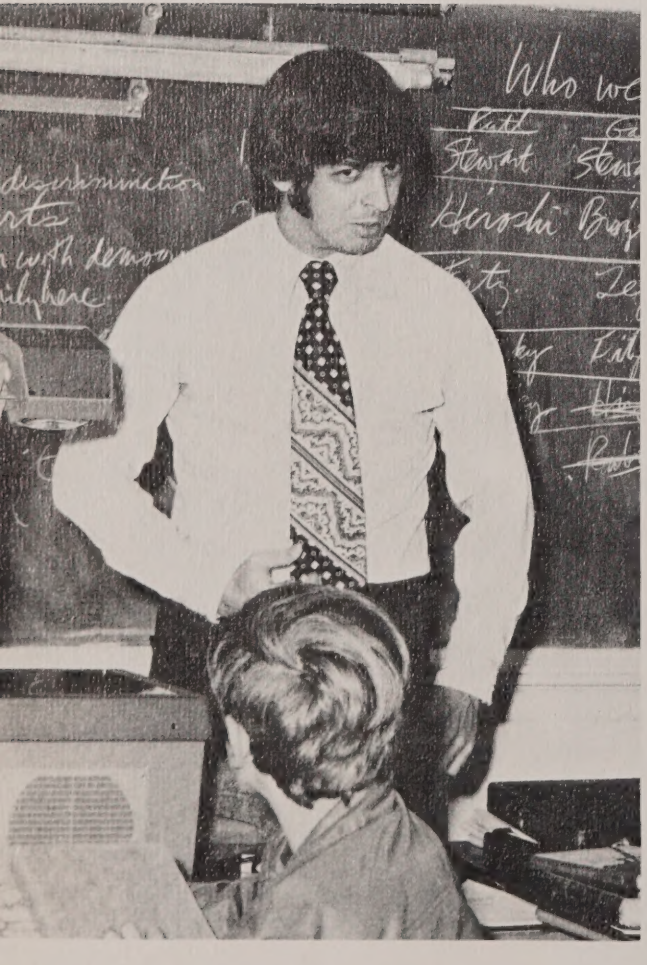
Mrs. Elizabeth McKim — poet in residence.

Ms. Julie Scalia — better looking than Mr. Cheek.

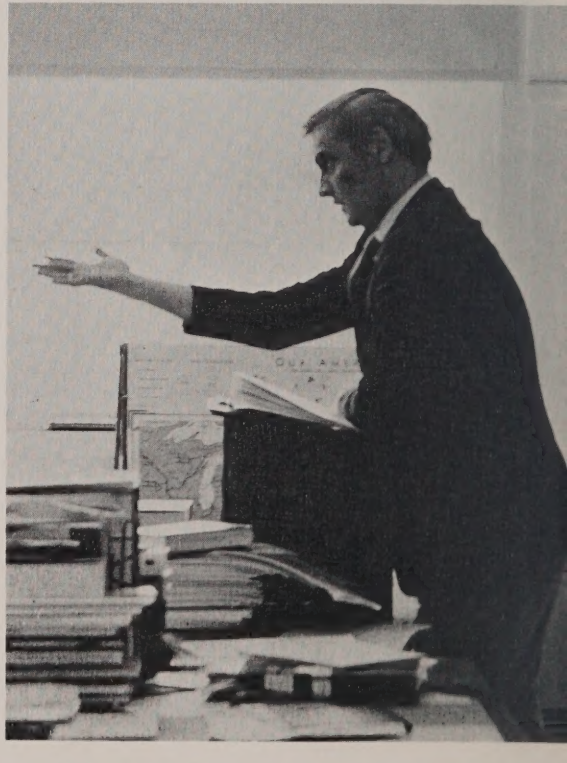
Social Studies . . . Palatable Menu

Mr. Barry Greener models the latest style from Berluti's of Walpole.

Those papers just keep piling up on Mrs. Sally Waters.



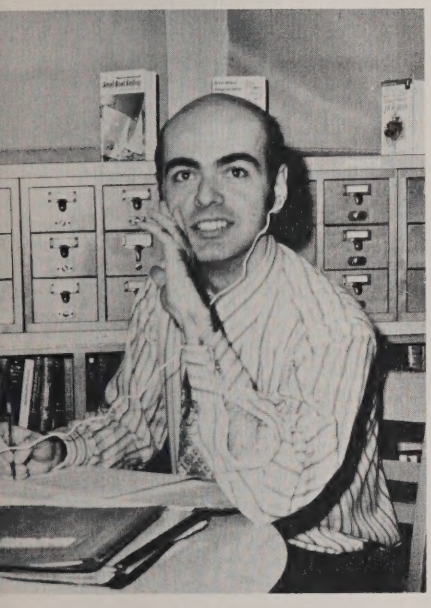
For those who would like the latest in the Social Studies, the following can be added to the exciting mixture of previous years. Blend one new staff member (Mr. Greener) with two new courses (Urban Studies and Contemporary Issues); next add the activities of the election year and "Nixonomics" to the investigations of Watergate, NCI and three teachers changing their surnames. These should be enjoyed amid Mr. Murphy's efforts to bring in outside groups (Louise Day Hicks, Joe Moakley, and Howard Miller as examples) spiced with the Law Seminar in February; Mr. Maddocks O.D.-ing on Girl Scouts Cookies and Spanish Club candy bars, and MAX ED; and you have a year that might be hard to forget.



Funny, Mr. Paul Wendler doesn't look Italian.

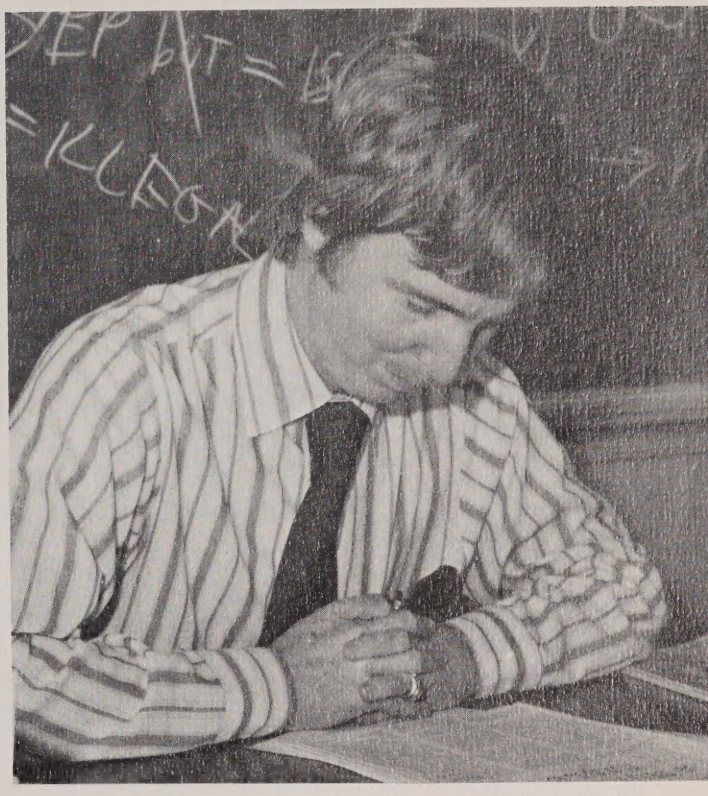
Mr. Charles Hardy practices his dance step for the prom.

CIA Agent Maddocks relays hot news from Watergate.

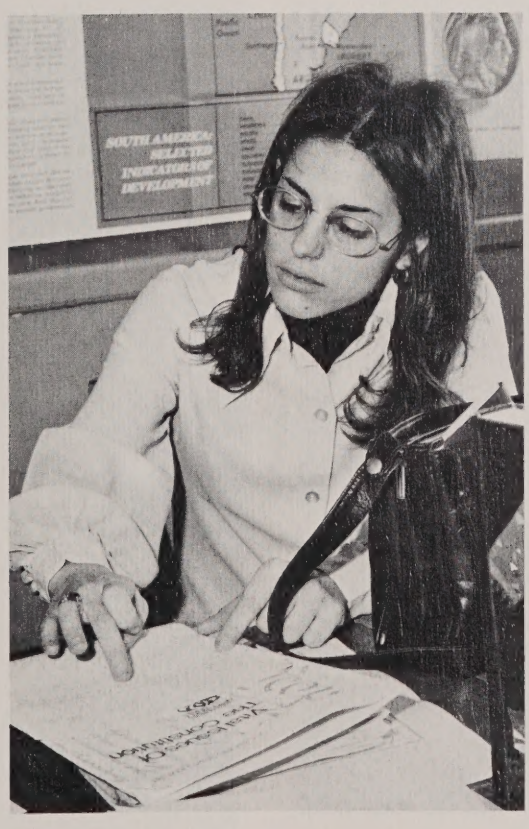


Mrs. Sue Page enjoys science fiction.

Mr. Tom Morris has that "I-know-something-you-don't-know" look.



Mrs. Ray Vickers suffers from chronic early morning blahs.



Miss Chris Geoghegan explains vital issues of the Constitution.

The Godfather with the First National Bank blueprints. Mr. Robert Coviello.

Foreign Languages

Mr. Peter Paglari and Miss Mary Connolly

Walpole High's Foreign Language Department offers a varied selection of courses for college bound students from elementary to advanced sequential levels and now has course offerings for students who want to learn about foreign language culture, music, art and common expressions. These offerings in Spanish and German have been so successful that a second year will be offered in German folklore and the contemporary scene. Language for everyone whether for advanced study or simple enjoyment . . . this is the aim . . .

Students will be traveling to other domestic and international locales this spring. The French students will fly to Paris for 10 days during the April vacation, a fantastic sojourn which includes visiting Paris and its environs. Spanish students will go to Washington, D.C. to visit the Pan American Center and the National Art Gallery. Languages and traveling are common entities which share many common goals and functions.

New courses of one semester will be offered next year with backgrounds in European trends (literary). Teachers continue to stress the importance of the cultural aspects of foreign language study and the importance of French, Spanish and German in today's society. International relations are so important and the small world we live in demands language ability for communication and harmony. Latin classes give a solid classical background and development of western civilization the foundation of present society.

Foreign language questionnaires distributed to WHS graduates now in college helped us develop new ideas for improvement of our programs. Foreign Language study blends with studies of social studies, English and contemporary problems to develop a student's overall high school education experience.

Mathematics

The Mathematics Department continues its struggle to convince students that many of them will in fact find a use for the mathematics they are learning. Although the efforts of the teachers to promote more student time for homework are constantly necessary, no proding is ever needed to fill the math resource center. The center is always busy with students putting the mathematical games to good use.

Many students have taken part in the relatively new semester electives: Computer Programming, Symbolic Logic, Mathematical Topics, Probability and Statistics courses. The department is working with some interesting ideas for new semester courses which could be offered in conjunction with other disciplines.

This year saw the departure of Mr. Tony Green who is back to the student life at Bowdoin College where he is matriculating for his Masters degree and Mrs. Kathleen Caruso who has become the mother of Tamsen Michelle Caruso. Joining the department this academic year were Mrs. Mary Forester, Miss Lucile Puscheck, and Mr. Kenneth Klein.

Science

The Science Department continues to offer a variety of courses to all students. Almost all the courses are laboratory-oriented and, despite the crowded conditions, have functioned well. Whether it be wading into the Neponset River to measure the water temperature; viewing stereo photos of the Grand Canyon; or observing the behavior of gerbils in a maze; the science program is committed to having the students involved in science as they learn.

This year has seen a wide scale use of the town forest, particularly by the classes involved in the "team biology" program. This program is an attempt to offer students the best possible biology course by using, to maximum advantage, the particular skills of individual teachers.

Three classes of chemistry students are involved in a pilot study in individualized, programmed education. These students, under the direction of Mrs. Powers and Mr. Preston, study and learn chemistry at their own pace. If successful this program will be extended to include more students next year.

The Science Club, begun this year, has maintained itself and with luck should blossom into a very successful activity next year. Under the direction of Mr. Higgins and Mr. Wilson the major project of this group has been to reconstruct and operate the weather station in school. This group also participated in a day long trip to the National Seashore with Mr. Clinto's classes.

The Science Department has had to function without the services of its senior member for most of the year. Although Miss Hale has been sorely missed, her classes have been ably handled by Miss Lorna Clarebout.

Business

The past school year has been a very successful year for the Business Department at Walpole High School. Enrollment of students in business courses has increased over the previous year and the Business Work-Experience Program is now successfully established and very much a part of the Business Curriculum.

Through this program, with Mrs. Kelleher as its coordinator, the Walpole High School Business Department is now in contact with the Business Community and cooperating jointly to make Business Education at Walpole High School more meaningful and relevant.

Home Ec. and Human Relationships

The Department of Home Economics expanded its scope to include the inner as well as the outer man in the field of Human Behavior. The popularity of the courses made it necessary to add a new faculty member, moving Mrs. Gloria White to department chairperson.

Other than the traditional culinary and hemstitching classes the following courses were offered:

Miss Nancy Evans

Mrs. H. Sue Paschall

Mrs. Gloria White

Family Living: an open forum where junior and senior girls openly shared contemporary teenage problems.

Home Management: a challenge to develop knowledge, attitudes, skills, and values that would contribute to a more satisfying family life in the future.

Human Behavior: especially popular with seniors who enjoyed observing and probing the motivations of human behavior, this course offered students from divergent courses to meet on common ground.

Graphic Arts

Graphic Arts as an Industrial Arts Education area is concerned with the study of and practice in the various methods of printing and its allied trades such as ink making, paper making, book bindery, types of duplicating, those photographic processes necessary for the various reproduction methods, and the tremendous impact the "art preservative of all of the arts" has upon our age.

Other than the school newspaper, which is issued bi-monthly, the department prints about half of the printed forms required by the school department. Other jobs produced in the shop for the High School are the school play programs, tickets for various activities, prom formal invitations, graduation programs, as well as forms for the offices.

Art

This year the Art Department has grown considerably in the number of students enrolling in the various courses and has also doubled in terms of faculty.

The program has been expanded so that most of the courses offered are of a specialized nature and are also a semester long. In addition, some courses offer students full credit. This is a first for Walpole High School. Among semester courses are: Interior Design, Printmaking, Ceramics, Sculpture, Textiles. For those students who have investigated the visual arts in other grades we have two major credit courses: Art Major I & II, and Crafts Workshop I & II.

The expanded program has a new area to work in. Room 005 has become a beehive of activity in the areas of ceramics and jewelry. Great things have also been done in wall hangings, cafeteria murals, and in painting.

In outside activities, Walpole Art students made a magnificent showing in both quantity and quality in the past winter's Boston Glove Scholastic art awards exhibitions. Work by art students was displayed in the Walpole Teacher's Association Open House, displays in Brand's Mens Store and at the Art Bazaar Sale sponsored by the Art Department.

Mrs. Elsie Cross

The healthy pulse of a lively student body could be either motivated or measured through the behind-the-scenes activities of a group of specialists ranging from the student activities coordinator, to the media activities, to the authorized prognosticator of the body's well-being — the school nurse.

With a common bond — tape — the assorted specialists stuck together in a harmony, beautiful to behold. Whether the situation called for a cassette tape, scotch tape, or adhesive tape — services rendered came through with a minimum of red tape.

Sophomores

As a class, the sophomores got off to a rather slow start. By the time our officers were elected, the reps chosen, and a meeting time and date set up, it was the middle of November.

Our first activity wasn't all on our own. We went in with the juniors and seniors on a Sadie Hawkin's dance. The total received from the affair wasn't all that great and by the time it was split three ways, there wasn't even enough to mention.

The next big project was the candle sale. This was a very successful undertaking. Not only did it bring in the money, but it also brought in a great deal of enthusiasm. Anyone who wanted to had a chance to help and it really got the whole class involved in what we were trying to accomplish.

Between the candle sale and our next project was a lot of time for talking, planning, and a lot of griping. As soon as we got all the trouble out of the way, we could get back to normal. So we planned to hold a bakesale on March 3. Purity Supreme seemed as good a place as any so, after getting permission from Mr. Stacy and the store manager, we swung into action. Again the class pulled through and baked things for us and the sale was very successful.

The next weekend was our dance. A group called Syrus Zayne came and played for a fairly nominal fee and anyone of the chaperones will tell you it was a unique night.

Since our dance and the discontinuation of X block, our class hasn't been able to pull any thing together.

Even though we didn't make a million dollars, we had a lot of fun this year, and we all say a big THANKS to Mr. Morris and Mrs. Hinds, our Advisors.

New String Rebels Come Through

Dr. Gino works on "D's" troubled ankle.

Wellesley was picked to beat the inexperienced Rebels by thirty points but the Rebels showed their home field pride by controlling the game from the start. Offensively Joe DiGiantommaso broke 71 yards for his second touchdown. Defensively the Rebels held the Eaglesen & Gibson duo. Steve (Cupie) Caputo and Jimmy (Wildman) Morris, the two captains, led the team in a great defensive effort. Wilman Morris received a shoulder separation which hurt the Rebel defense for the remainder of the season. The Rebel team showed fans that the General was bringing the Rebels back to a shot at keeping the title.

The Rebels had come off a bad offensive game against Norwood with a 16-16 deadlock and wanted to get back into the offensive swing. Braintree is the biggest team in the league and Walpole, the smallest. The Rebels were playing on the Braintree field where they haven't won since the General arrived. The best they had done was a tie. The Braintree coach said Walpole would not be able to win on his defense but Joe (Magic) Di-Giantommaso changed his mind in the second quarter.

"Magic" had three touchdowns and 171 yards in the second quarter. Blocking by Bill Caskie broke him for 78 yard, 30 yard, and 15 yard runs. The Rebel defense led by Steve "Cupie" Caputo held the huge Braintree offense to only 14 points. Ed Stuber went in for Walpole's last score. Walpole's offense was back in the swing and put Walpole and the and the General right in the thick of the B.S.L. race.

Coach Lord

Under Coach Lord's encouragement, the boys on the Cross Country Team pushed on to a final score of five wins, four losses. The N.E. Cross Country Camp held in the fall of 1972 encouraged the four Walpole team members who attended by giving tips and teaching the right mental attitudes. Two-hour lectures were combined with work outs for a week of training at Stonehill College.

Later in the season the team successfully competed at the State Division III meet held at Boston's White Stadium. John Travers finished the distance of 2.9 miles fifth, qualifying for the finals. He then went on to finish 40th. John Smith finishing 10th was awarded a medal.

Smith currently holds the record for the new course at Walpole High.

The Bay State League Conference held at Walpole finished the season with 10 schools in competition. Out of seven reps from Walpole's Varsity Team, John Smith finished second after running a distance of 2.5 miles, and John Travers took third.

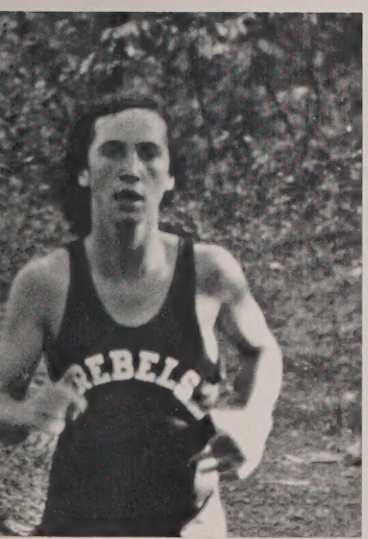
REBELS



REBELS

Whipped "Cream" Takes Second Place

Before each game the "psyched-up" gals chanted their traditional war cry: "Fight, score, win — Porkers!" Breaking from that huddle, knuckles white as they clenched their sticks, the team sprinted out to cream their opponents. And like good cream, they rose to the top, almost every time. Their aggressive confidence showed in the helicopter stick handling of that mightymite, Peg Pelligrine, in the good clearing by goalie, Judy Nordstrom, and in the Jack-the-Giant-Killer oversizing of Pat Crehan.

"Victory Porkers!" was the battle cry that marked the beginning of every second half and it was a prophetic cheer that had every reason to be fulfilled. The girls had spent a week-end at Sugarbrook Lodge, Vermont, defeating all New England contenders but one, Lincoln Sudbury, which ended in a 1-1 tie. Reenie Groden scored for that tie with 7 seconds left to go. Then, there was a week at Merestead Hockey and Lacrosse Camp at Poland, Maine. Fourteen hand-picked Porkers entered the competition with college as well as high school teams. Coaches from all parts of the globe were there. Choice opportunities to produce a championship team.

But alas, and alack, the cream at the top curdled slightly and soured when the Porkers walked away with a 1-1 tie with Norwood. Overconfidence killed a win and the team settled for second place to Framingham South. That final cheer stuck in their throats "Three-five-seven-nine — who do we think is mighty fine? Norwood."

The team they had planned to cream had ironically been a major factor in their ultimate whipping.

Double Victory Over Arch Rivals

Despite the lack of whooping, cheering spectators the team backed out a respectable record that included two of the sweetest victories on the scoreboard — the twin victory over the traditional enemy to the North — Norwood.

The first win, 4-1, and the second, 5-2 proved that the Rebels are the real champs over their neighbors who hate to lose this big one.

Basketball Team Has Perfect Season 0-18

Under Coach Timothy Collins the team this season did have some near misses that would have broken the lamentable shutout — but near misses don't count and that leaves the squad with the rather dubious distraction of being the anchor men in the league. Like most anchors — they were out of sight! Oh well, to quote the old crystal ball gazers, "Next year it's out of the cellar, boys." The girls' basketball team, the best basketball team in Walpole, is the only team this season to finish first in the BSL, and that was a three-way tie with Wellesley and North. They finished the season with an 8-1 record, with the only loss coming against co-champion Wellesley.

Coach Brainard, in her six years of coaching, has brought Walpole its second straight championship, the first back-to-back championships in Walpole High history. She feels the success of the team lies in fine defensive work. Playing a 1-3-1 zone, the girls gave up an average of only 22.7 points per game while scoring an average of 43 points per game themselves. Joanne Cosman was, in Miss Brainard's words, "an outstanding defensive player". Cosman also led the team in time played and was third in scoring.

Katey Farrell led the team in scoring, averaging 13.2 points per game in 16 league and non-league games for a new school record. She also led the team in rebounds averaging 17.2 per game. Tricia Crehan was second in scoring with a 7.3 average.

Meanwhile, the JV squad recorded a 5-4 record, winning the first five straight games and losing the final four. Miss Brainard sees many promising sophomores coming out of that JV team.

Next year's team is expected to be a rebuilding year; but then again, so was this season's football team. The only returning letter winner will be Janet Finn.

Though hopes and predictions ran high that Walpole would wear the Bay State League hockey crown, the boys had to settle for a disappointing fourth place.

Sparked by a start-of-the-season win over Norwood, Walpole swept 7 of the next 8 games. They were on their way to the Bay State playoffs until Norwood met them with a vengeance. The 0-4 shutout knocked Walpole out of the playoffs and set them on their fourth place haunches.

Though it was fourth place for the team it was first place for Eddie Stuber, a number one scorer in the League (Eddie had 20 goals and 17 assists). Chris Crown followed close behind with 14 goals and 1 assist.

Operation Insight

Jon Kannair gets a new grip on life.

Who can begin to realize his own potential until that potential is tested in the crucible of experience? For Loon the crucible comes in the shape of rushing rapids and snow capped mountains, team effort and solo endurance.

Put to the test, here are some of the insights that surfaced in regal loonies.

"I hear all of the griping down the hill and feel a laugh coming from deep inside me, then I feel a sudden feeling of depression. Think of what a lucky, comfortable person I am way up here and of how unfortunate they are. To think that I could have helped them instead of being my old selfish self."

"My fingers are starting to hurt. They feel like they are going to fall off. My legs are too short. I can't reach the footholes. I'm tired. I'm falling. My belt buckle is scraping against the rock. I stopped falling. Start climbing again. I can't get past that spot. I can't reach. I feel like I can't get up there. I can. I did."

"Then for a while I talked to Sourdes to try to get her to go up the ladder. She was really scared. Then I realized that everything I had been saying to her should apply to me. Why should she do that, if I couldn't do what I had to do? That got me really determined, so I went over and grabbed the tree and really worked, and finally got the rope. I didn't think anyone had been watching but when my hand touched the rope everyone cheered. I'd made it!"

The ski team was prepared for another great year; however, Mother Nature grudgingly with-held the essential ingredient — snow — and the team had to trade the white flakes for moth balls until next season.

The girls' gymnastics team has been improving each year. With captains Brenda Charron and Cheryl Cutler the team did quite well. Although they had only two wins and six losses the scores topped last year's.

The biggest meet of the season was against Framingham South. It was a close call but the girls managed to squeak through with their first victory. The following week the team faced Norwood and again won. Giving it all they had the team reached a score of 52.70 in their last meeting losing only by 2/10 of a point. All in all, the team's effort with good coaching paid off.

Wrestling

Coach Barry Greener and his boys had a tough season this year despite high team spirit and great individual effort. Captain Rich Cunniff led the team with great performances this season as he had done in the seasons before. The team only had four seniors on it and only a few returning lettermen. The Rebels only winning two and tying one pulled an upset on a tough Wellesley team and gave many other teams a tough time in the league. The Team's new coach was expecting to have good performances from members of the team in the regional tournament; as it was, no one placed in the tournament.

RELAY SHORT CIRCUITS CLASS "C" STATES

A strong relay team in the finals meant what looked like a sure 3rd place in the Class C State Finals. Mike Valerio, John Travers, and Ralph Maxfield made up the winning combination which unfortunately was disqualified when Mike cut off his man and Walpole finished 4th.

In the meet itself, however, and in the trials that led up to it there were some pretty impressive records:

Trials (Individuals) at Reading, Mass. High:

John Smith — 4th for a mile (broke record 9.54)
Mike Valerio — 5th in 50
Dave Sullivan — tie for 1st 45 yard high hurdle
Joe DiGiantommaso — 1st for 300 yard (34.1 set our school record)
John Travers — 1st in 600. (Broke school record 1.173)

J. Smith 2nd — 9.48

Bleak Picture Has Bright Spots

This year the softball team suffered from the loss of seniors and lack of experience. The team hitting average was extremely low compared to last year because the league pitching has become more competitive each year.

The infield had a few days when they couldn't get it all together. To top it all off, our pitching staff was limited.

Despite the bleak picture which lost the season — there were some bright spots. "Dunnies" sharp bat and her quick throw from home to second kept the other teams on their toes. Giving help from the 3rd base side, "Ching Wong" (Sue Farrell) had her days when all she could hit were homeruns. When the infield was looking bad, Peggy and Rennie pulled them through with unexpected plays from short to first. Although their record wasn't the best, the kids tried hard and had a lot of fun.

Baseball, 1973

The Rebels seemed to be in a slump, finishing this season with the same record as last year, a deceptive 7 wins and 11 losses.

The Rebels never really got started, they never had what might be called a "winning streak." They won their first two games and the local nine looked as though they might keep it up. But, unfortunately the streak turned bleak as the team hit the skids.

But wait until next year! Coach Ralph White is very optimistic as he looks ahead to another year on the Turco Field diamond (the hope that springs eternal within the human breast).

Missing a nearly perfect season with one win, the girls' tennis team went down almost as ingloriously as did the boys' basketball squad. The one bright spot of the competition came climactically as the final game — a victory over Milton.

Despite the gloomy record as a team there were some individual records worthy of note:

—Senior Joanne Anello, outstanding player of the team, won three matches for singles.

—Sophomores Donna Pellini and Ginger Lehto who dominated the team.

As usual may we end with the perennial note of optimism" . . . next year should really be a great year — a rebuilding year."

Despite the restrictions of being limited to two courts, Coach Morris feels that with the happy prospect of the return of this year's entire team (except for one senior) the seasoned players will be able to reverse this year's record of 2-16.

May Day! May Day!

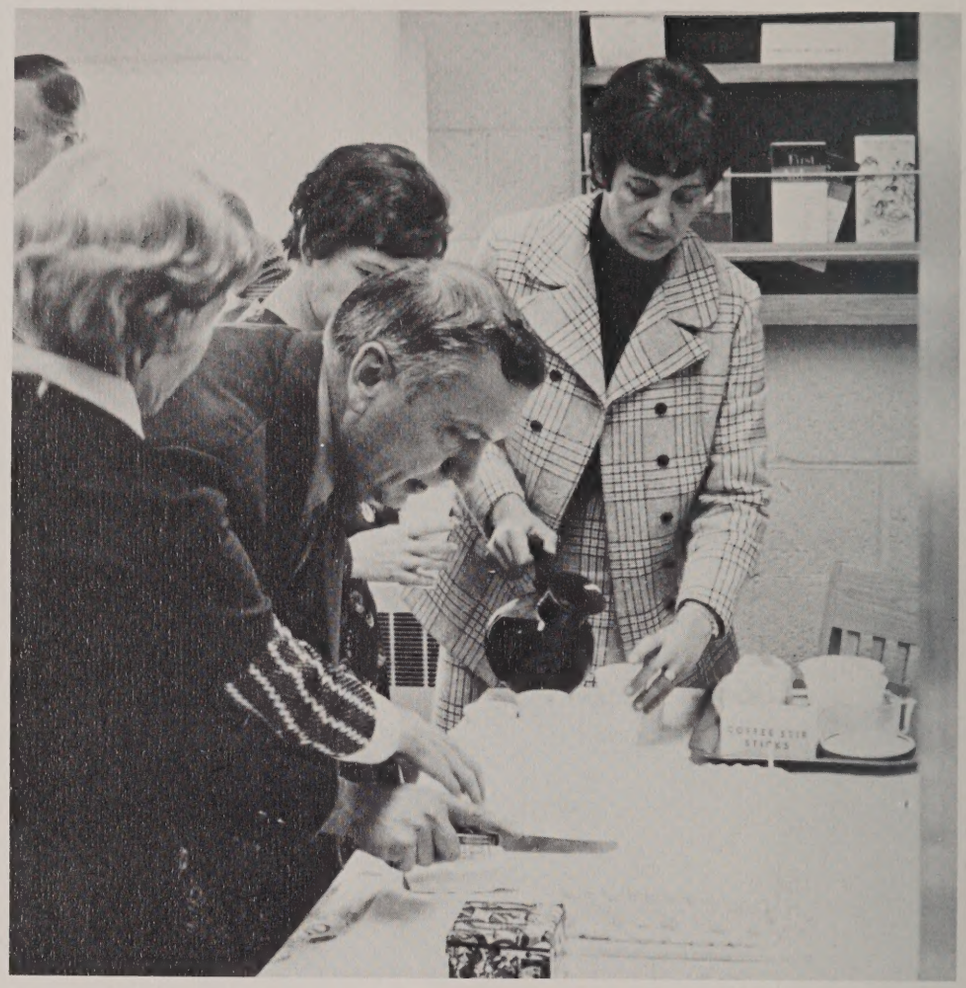
Oh, oh — looks like a put up job.

Oh you shouldn't have.

You certainly had me fooled.

I blew them all out and now for my wish.

Will it jump out if I open it?



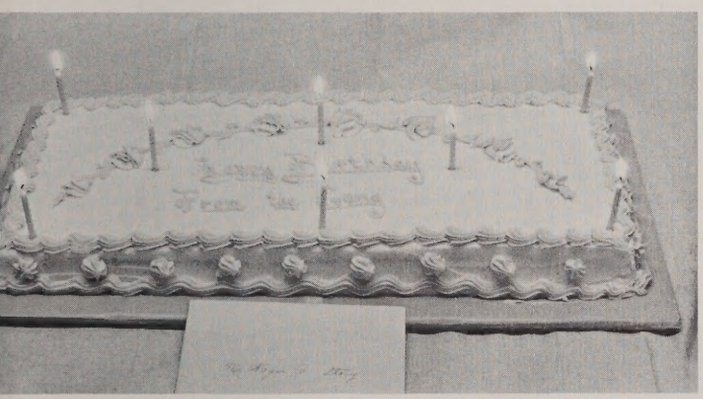
Let's see now. We have to be fair about this. Hope Marge Stuber has a steady hand on the coffee.

Don't worry, Jim, birthdays aren't all bad. You're not getting older, you're just getting better.

From that point on when we break the 30's barrier and move into the realm of the "silent majority" we begin to ignore the "happy" birthdays and look on them more in the category of grey Mondays.

And yet surprise birthday parties are fun despite all that and on May 25 of this year Kathy Turco pulled a fast one on the unsuspecting headmaster who walked through an open door to find something more pleasant than nagging administrative problems facing him.

Now how did you guess my age?



Just think — Kathy Turco brought it all together.

Shirley Crown, Tom Joy, and Mike Kelley — nice people to have at a party.

Poor Betty Littlefield — wondering about all those crumbs on the floor.

That's loyalty — Dora Bushway here on crutches.

N.H.S. Inducts New Members

On March 26, the Walpole High School Chapter of the National Honor Society inducted its new members for next year.

Twenty-four juniors and one senior were chosen to form the 1974 chapter. The ceremony began with introductory remarks made by high school principal Wayne Stacy and by 1973 NHS president, Janice Okubo, on the formation and purpose of the society. Speeches were also made by Ann Pelrine, Nancy Cross, Paula Varga, and Megan Garbaczeski on scholarship, service, leadership, and character, respectively, the four characteristics upon which the society is based. A social hour followed the ceremony. A new banner for the ceremony was made by Nancy Cross, Joanne Cosman, Barbara Moroney, and Cheryl Cutler.

On March 30, junior and senior members went to Wheaton College for an annual conference of Mass. National Honor Societies. There were various seminars to attend and also a high school bowl, where three teams competed on academic questions, all of which made an interesting day.

YEARBOOK

Nothing unusual going on in the Rebel yearbook room — same faithful few, same deadly deadlines (seldom met) same old excuses: "I have to work this afternoon; I won't be able to make the meeting . . ." "Don't worry, Mr. Schnorbus, I'll get the Underclass layout done . . ." "The only time we can get a full staff meeting is when it's time for the staff picture." "You mean . . . you spent 3 hours on that layout?!" Somehow, all seems to fall together as the dwindling staff simultaneously falls all apart.

Creative brains hit a stalemate.

Labyrinth and Newspaper

With the Rebel Newspaper now under his control, Mr. Schnorbus holds a monopoly on all of the school publications issuing from the High School (he could be dangerous). Already advisor of the Rebel Yearbook and the creative writing magazine Labyrinth, Mr. Schnorbus fell heir to the Rebel when the previous advisor, Mr. Richard Cheek, left after first semester to go into professional architectural photography.

The first issue of the Labyrinth reached the stands in December, the second in May. The newspaper set six-week goals between issues and nearly died trying to make them. Thanks to Nancy Bowman on the composer and Pete Lind on the offset the two publications took on a proudly professional look.

The Ecology Club

The Environmental Action Committee, better known as the Ecology Club, is a small but worthy organization. The club advisor is Mr. Tom Morris and the co-chairpersons are Ken Reed and Barbara Griglak. Several projects have been accomplished this year. Recycling and reusable boxes were put in most rooms for students' use. A telephone book collection was held and was not very successful with approximately 35 books collected. A campus clean-up was held on May 2 with over 20 classes participating. It was a mild success with a partial cleaning of the grounds. The latest event is a recycling center here at Walpole High. Though there were 300 less participants this year in the second annual Ride-a-Bike, individual efforts were greater and brought in $5,000 to go toward programs geared to help retarded children in Massachusetts.

Last year 800 people participated and were able, at the end of the "hike", to present $6,000 toward helping the retarded.

The big wheels of the day brought in double that of last year's winners. They were:

Joanne McGlaughlin — Walpole High School
Addis Dempsey — West Junior High School
Scott Manty — Elementary School

The whole day was a great cooperative effort sponsored by the Walpole Teachers' Association and was headed by Miss Beth Delaney of Fischer School. Over 100 teachers and their spouses participated.

SHAPING — Mel Barrett and Kathy Horgan.

D.R.P. at Walpole

GIVING — Mel Simpson.

This year students were fortunate to participate in a "first" for Walpole High School. As part of the Drug Rehabilitation Program at Norfolk State Prison, Mel Simpson, Mel Barrett, and Al Lanier rapped with classes on drug abuse and the problems confronting those who choose a life with drugs involved. All three men are serving Life Sentences at Norfolk and spoke about their own experiences with drugs, and the ultimate consequences for them. The men were released for the day on a twelve-hour furlough under a new program started by Commissioner John Boone. They chose to come to Walpole High for part of that time even though the day was subtracted from the total time they could be released each year. It was a day everyone remembers.

Individuals Break Many Records

Although winning only two of its meets, the girls' track team continued to grow as a varsity sport. The competition was rough, the weather was wet, but the girls were spirited and motivated.

Individual performances were exceptional and records were broken in various events. In the future Walpole can look forward to many winning seasons.

Ballots Supply Missing Queen

Once upon a time, in a little hamlet affectionately known as Walpole, the student body of the high school found themselves in a terrible dilemma. They had no queen! The Student Council offered to remedy the situation by holding elections for one, with the final coronation to be held at a great extravaganza on November 2, 1972 — The Autumn Queen Dance. Voting was held for candidates, and the members of the school picked four lovely princesses to represent them. They were Joanne Cosman, Doreen (Dowsie) Dower, Susan (Ching) Farrell, and Noreen Petrillo.

The dance began that night with the group "Feeling" providing musical entertainment. As each loyal subject came into the dance, they cast a ballot for queen. The excitement mounted to a fever pitch during the evening — who would be Walpole High's new queen? Finally the suspense was too great to bear any longer. They announced the new queen . . . Susan Farrell! There was great jubilation among the subjects. Walpole High now had an Autumn Queen for their very own.

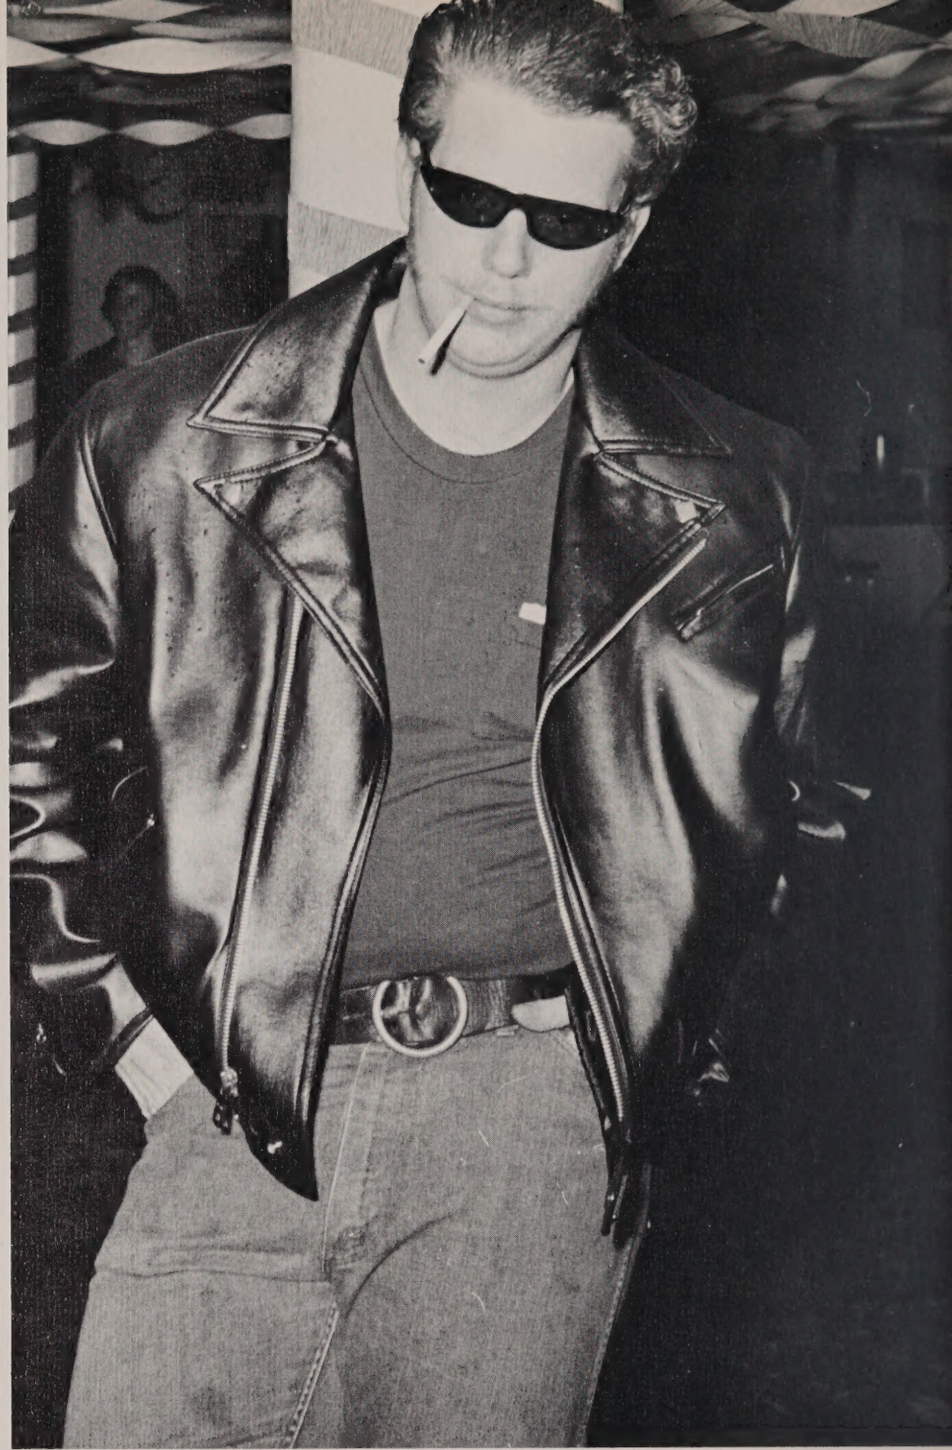
Greaser Night Turns Back The Calendar



50's Revisited

On February 2nd, the students of Walpole High School returned to a bygone era with a dance of the 50's. It was master minded by Polly Young, who had the dress code posted around the school: blue jeans, white socks, T-shirts, leather jackets, and slicked back hair for boys; below-the-knee skirts, ankle socks, letter sweaters, and pony tails for girls.

Most kids came dressed in the style of the 50's. The music was '50's with Geoff Hill and Dave Burke manning the mikes. Prizes were won for best dancers, and the girl and boy who looked most in place. "Betty Lou Bop" (Mary Lally), and "Mr. Greaser" (Bill Thurlow).

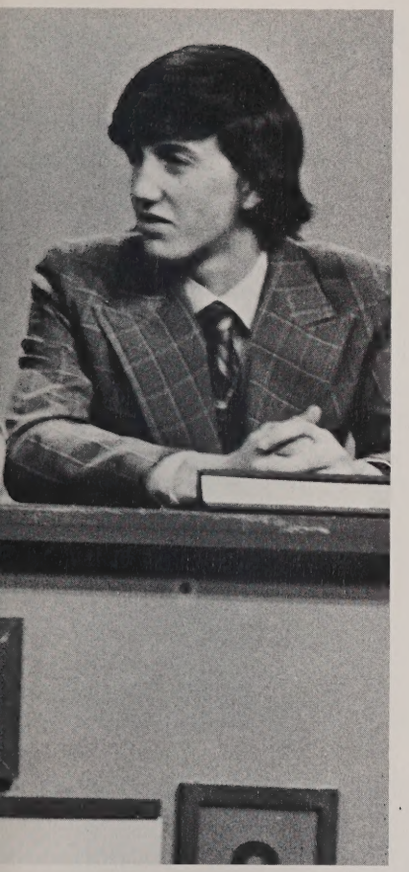
Betsy Duncan won the door prize of a souped-up motorcycle that changed into a fire-breathing dragon at the stroke of twelve and galloped back to the dark and fore-boding castle of 20th century realism.

Here And There

Mr. Schnorbus's Creative Expression Class and Ms. Springer's Modern Poetry Section were able to participate in a 10-week workshop with Boston poet, Elizabeth McKim. Students were exposed to many different techniques in the writing of poetry and then were asked to create original poems. Everyone was surprised and pleased with the latent talent at Walpole High. Students also had the opportunity to hear published poets from the Boston area read and discuss their own works. Judith Steinberg, author of "Marshamallow World", was one of several who read her poetry to classes.

Competing in TV's "It's Academic" Polly Young, Robert Ryan, David Erker.

Miss Cole and Andrew Murphy practice a few French expressions before leaving Logan for France.



My thoughts, like trains of little clouds, all over everything.
Me Iam a lazy pony, dying to be free.
Crying for love and to be loved.
I am crazy they say.
My poems are the jigsaw puzzle pieces of me.
— Colleen Tulles

I want names of happiness
Of sunny days and spring rains
I want strange exotic names which sound soft and pleasant

I want names of blooming

'73 Junior Prom Takes

"Debbie Tracy, Prom queen finalist"

"The queen and her court."

"Stairway to Heaven" was the theme for the 1973 Junior Prom held on Wednesday, April 18, at the Blue Hills Country Club.

The night began with a delicious roast beef dinner followed by lots of dancing to Don Ahearn and his orchestra.

The long receiving line was handled brilliantly by the junior ushers, "What was your name again?"

The grand march, led by the junior class officers, was held in honor of our seniors. They marched grandly (?) around the tables with the juniors eyeing them closely. The biggest honor of the night was given to Nina McGonagle who was chosen the Prom Queen. The girls in her court were: Jeanne Hill, Ruth Kinahan, Marcia Twohig, Paula MacPherson and Debbie Tracey.

At midnight, every one left with his own special memory of a "heavenly" night.

"Now over there"

Renee Grodon, Diane Allen and Tony Ferreta

"Ann makes sure she's being followed"

"Stairway to Heaven"

"Camera's the other way, Jan."

"Could you please play . . ."

"Then as queen . . ."

Senior Class Presents Kaufman and Hart Comedy

On Friday and Saturday evenings, April 6 and 7, at 8:00 p.m., the Walpole High School Class of '73 presented You Can't Take It With You, a madcap comedy by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart.

The action of the play revolved around the members of the Sycamore family who all did their "own thing" with little regard for the "normal" ways of the world. Grandpa (Ross Anderson) presided over the household chaos with a philosophy of "just relax" and occupied his time collecting snakes and stamps, and attending public events. Grandpa's daughter, Penny (Paula Varga), was a hopeful playwright and sometime painter, while her husband Paul (Bill Gray), occupied himself with an erector set in the parlor or with fireworks in the cellar. Their daughter Essie (Genevieve Ronan) practiced ballet day and night and made candy for neighborhood customers, while her husband Ed (Ed Naclerio) was busy with his printing press, xylophone, masks and candy deliveries. The Sycamore's younger daughter, Alice (Polly Young), was torn between her affection for all these many relatives and her love for the boss' son (Gary Darby). Mixed into this erratic family circle were Mr. DePinna (Richard Nannicelli), Rheba the maid (Geraldine Silvi), her boyfriend Donald (Chris Crown) and Kelenkhev (Dave Sullivan), a ballet master. The case of characters was rounded out by Mr. and Mrs. Kirby (Wayne Houghton and Dorothy Bruce), Mr. Henderson (Frank Federico), an Internal Revenue agent, Gay Wellington (Mary Lally), a drunken actress and a Russian Grand Duchess (Helen Cangiano).

"Minute I enter a stage door I never touch a drop."

"Paul dear, I'd like you to meet the REAL Mr. Kirby."

G. Silvi & G-Man Brooks uncover the facts that turn the tables on the Kirbys.

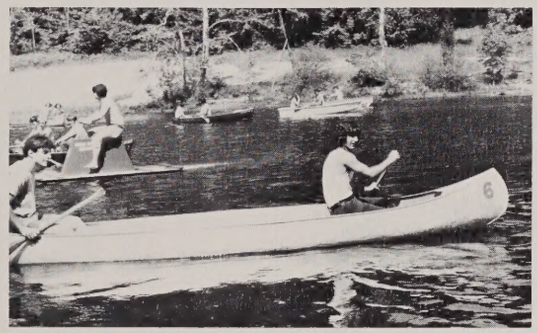
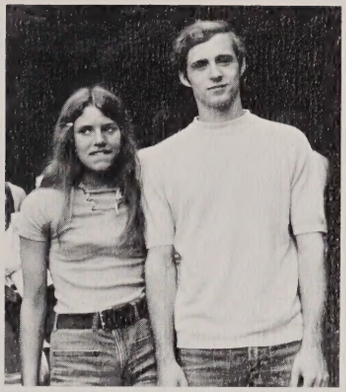
The Last Laugh

The traditional class night program was held in the auditorium Friday, May 31, at 8:00 p.m. As usual the place was packed and, as usual, the seniors took their last opportunity to vent some of their usual gripes through hurriedly rehearsed (?) skits: a Betty-the-Buffer drill in the cafeteria, a locker shakedown which uncovered bikes, tires, and Doreen Dower, who hardly needed to be uncovered since she was sporting only a bath towel and a bathing cap. The final skit found a despondent Cheryl Cutler denied a diploma because she had flunked gym.

Chris Crown, class president, m.c.'d the program which included the giving of various awards, slides taken at Horseneck Beach during skip day, and a farewell speech from Mr. Stacy, who had only graduation to go.





A Final Fling: Senior Class Outing

Though only four buses pulled away from Blackburn Memorial Hall on Firday, June 1 at 7:30 a.m., instead the six the previous year, the 179 seniors aboard had the time of their lives.

After arriving at Frank Davis' Resort in Moodus, Connecticut, following a two-hour bus ride, the pleasure seekers piled out of the buses to listen to Coo Coo (Social Director) explain the lay of the land. And what a land it was: swimming, canoeing, rowboats and paddleboats, tennis, baseball, basketball, volleyball, a play ground for the younger ones, ping pong, dancing, water skiing, a driving range, and horseback riding.

Following lunch the highlight of the day was the competition held between the Rebels and other vacationing schools. W.H.S. made a poor showing in baseball and basketball but when it came to the acquatics — the Rebels were superstars.

Walpole won the swimming meets hands down and the canoe races — well — with Dower and Jankowski at the helm a handicap was imposed to even the competition: the superstars had to paddle with their handles.

At the end of a full day, bronzed, happy seniors fell into bed and dreamed of their final event as a class — Graduation, 1973. The final triumph for the superstars.

Graduation: "Reason To Believe"

Little Bo Peeps — creeps with their sheeps — under the watchful eye of Uncle Tom.

Grand Marshall, Mr. Tom Reis, points up the cadence (more pleasant than pointing out misdemeanors.

Retiring Superintendent Mr. John Powers and Assistant Principal, Mr. Robert Geib, confer the honors.

Sue Clark and Alan Beetle get a preview of their turn next year.

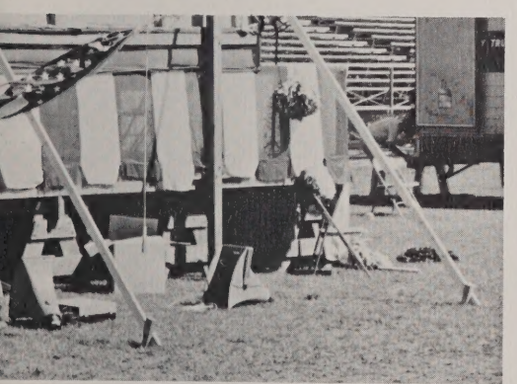
On Sunday, June 3, at 2:15 p.m., 334 seniors solemnly marched to their places on Turco Field to the traditional music of "Pomp and Circumstance."

Against the bannered background of the motto, "Reason to Believe", five seniors perspired through their speeches emphasizing Peace — domestic and world-wide. These speakers were: Cheryl Cutler, Donna Sheppard, Doug MacIntire, Bob Ryan, and Ann McCaffrey.

Packed bleachers of friends and relatives perspired along with the graduates through an hour-long program that ended with a benediction by Reverend Paul Varga.

Following the benediction, the officially acknowledged graduates rose to march out to meet their new challenges with the strains of "Exodus" reminding them that they had every reason to believe that they were leaving Cyprus for their Promised Land.

Confederate general Tom Mills makes off with the stars and stripes.



Grandstanding under a lot of sun.

"Glad that's over!"

Quite a change from jeans and sandals.

IN MEMORIAM

The class of 1973
will always remember
Gary Donlan
as extremely cheerful and enthusiastic in all that he did.
We are sorry that he cannot be part of our graduating class.
We will carry his memory
with us for years to come.

AFTERGLOW

I'd like the memory of me
To be a happy one.
I'd like to leave an afterglow
Of smiles when day is done.

I'd like to leave an echo
Whispering softly down the ways,
Of happy times, and laughing times
And bright and sunny days.

I'd like the tears of those who grieve
To dry before the sun
Of happy memories I leave
Behind — when day is done.

You're about to take a giant step forward into your future.
We think we can make it the bright one you want it to be at New England Telephone. With a job that's every bit as big as your ambition. You see, we need people.
With all kinds of talents. And especially, people who really want to get going with their future. And want to be rewarded with automatic raises. If you want a job and a future that's tailored to your talent... along with unusually generous fringe benefits, stop in and see your guidance counselor. Ask when and where you can apply for an interview with the people who want to make your future as happy as you want it to be.
